In the year 2015...

Dear INFER members and friends,

Hopefully, 2015 started very well for all of you. Looking at our current agenda, 2015 will be a very interesting year for INFER too. After many successful events in 2014, new workshops are coming up in Portugal (Coimbra), Italy (Pescara), Germany (Cologne) and Cyprus (Gime). Moreover, the call for papers has been launched for the INFER Annual Conference, taking place from May 21 till May 23, 2015 at the University of Bedfordshire, in Luton (UK). We hope to meet you at these events!

This newsletter contains more information about all upcoming as well as recent events. The INFER board also uses the INFER Newsletter to keep you informed regarding various new developments in our network. We hope you appreciate this information.

Our network is growing in terms of the number of workshops and conferences, the number of publications and the number of (individual and institutional) members. Moreover INFER is now supported by many strategic partners. These achievements will help us further develop our network by providing more services to all of you.

On behalf of the INFER board I wish to thank you for your involvement and support. We invite you to continue attending our events, to participate in our debates and discussions (new tools will be available soon at our website!) and to publish your papers in our journals, special issues and other publication series.

Jan Van Hove
INFER Chair

17th INFER Annual Conference 2015

The 17th INFER Annual Conference 2015 will take place from May 21 to May 23, 2015 at the University of Bedfordshire in Luton (near London – United Kingdom). Three excellent keynote speakers have confirmed their participation. Moreover, the venue is easy to reach (20 minutes from the centre of London), so we hope that many INFER members will participate.

Review of 2014

The 16th INFER Annual Conference took place from May 29th to May 31st at the Gabriele D'Annunzio University of Pescara (Italy), in partnership with the Italian Association for the Study of Economic Asymmetries. In the conference sessions, economists from 21 countries presented 84 papers covering almost all fields of the economic discipline. The success of the conference was assured by the presence of several distinguished keynote speakers including, Joe Brada, Gianni De Fraja, Gary Jefferson, Dominick Salvatore and Mathias Thoenig, as well as by the gala dinner, which was held in the wonderful Chiola Castle in Loreto Aprutino. During the gala dinner, the INFER Board awarded the INFER Joint Research Prize to Armand Fouejieu, Alexandra Popescu and Patrick Villieu for their paper on "Monetary Policy and Financial Stability: In Search of Trade-Offs", while the INFER Young Economist Award was awarded to Svetlana Fedoseeva for her paper on "Asymmetry and Hysteresis: Two Perspectives on Pricing-to-Market Nonlinearity", written with Laura M. Werner. Congratulations to the winners!

Recently, Loughborough University launched a new research centre, the Centre for Firms in the Global Economy. The centre became a new strategic partner for INFER. Their first INFER workshop on the theme of Distance and Border Effects in Economics took place on January 17, 2014. Keynote speakers were Dennis Novy (University of Warwick) and Scott Baier (Clemson University). A special issue on the workshop's topic is forthcoming in Economics E-journal.

The Leuven Centre for Irish Studies of the University of Leuven (Belgium), also one of INFER's strategic partners, recently hosted the INFER workshop on Trade Agreements. This very topical workshop attracted many academics as well as policy makers. Lively discussion took place between researchers across various disciplines. The keynote speakers were Scott Baier (Clemson University), Benjamin Zissimos (University of Exeter) and Joao Aguiar-Machado (European Commission – DG Trade).

The International Workshop on “European Economic Integration: Present and Future Challenges” was jointly organised by the INFER, ISEG, UL (Lisboa School of Economics and Management of the University of Lisbon) and UECE (Research Unit on Complexity and Economics) on the 20th-21st June, 2014, at ISEG in Lisbon, Portugal. The sponsors of the event included INFER, Banco de Portugal and Montepio Geral.

The guest speakers in the plenary sessions were:

- Gabriel Felbermayr - CESIFO, Ifo Institute, Leibniz-Institute for Economic Research at the University of Munich – presenting the theme “Macroeconomic potentials of transatlantic free trade: A high resolution perspective for Europe and the world”.
- Stuart Holland - University of Coimbra – presenting the theme “Europe in Question - and what to do about it”
- João de Sousa Andrade – University of Coimbra – presenting the theme “Nominal and real convergence in Euro area”. There was a round table discussion on the “European Union integration and its disequilibria: The best way to cope with facts” with the participation of Gabriel Felbermayr, Stuart Holland, Jan Van Hove, Camélia Turcu, Elias Soukiazis and João de Sousa Andrade.

The INFER workshop on “Financial Globalization,

International Trade and Development” took place from the 3rd -4th of July, 2014, at the University of Bordeaux, France. It was jointly organized by INFER and LAREFI (Laboratoire de Analyse et de Recherche Economie et Finances Internationales) in the historical city center of Bordeaux. The workshop had participants from many countries including; Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Poland, Netherlands, Switzerland, United Kingdom and the United States. Almost 20 universities were represented as well as international organizations and central banks (Cologne Institute for Economic Research, Bank de France and Bank of Italy). A selection of papers presented at the workshop will be published soon in a special issue of International Economics.

The Economics Department of Ghent University (Belgium) organized the INFER workshop on Regions, Firms and FDI on August 21-22, 2014. Keynote speakers were Nathalie Chen (University of Warwick) and Harry Garretsen (University of Groningen). The workshop was a cosy and strongly focused event, hosted in a very nice historical setting. Plans are being made for a follow-up event.

The INFER Workshop on Urban and Regional Economics was held on September 4-5, 2014 at the Universitat Rovirai Virgili in Reus (Catalonia, Spain). This workshop was jointly organized by INFER, CREIP (Research Centre in Industrial and Public Economics) and Universitat Rovirai Virgili, and received the support from several public institutions including Asociación Española de Ciencia Regional, Xarxa de Referència en Economia i Polítiques Públiques, Catalan Government and the research group Quantitative, Urban and Regional Economics. The workshop had 7 sessions covering a wide range of urban and regional economics topics (Spatial Methodologies, Firm Dynamics, Agglomeration Economies, Knowledge Dynamics, Labour Market and Innovation, Housing and Migration and Environmental Issues), and included two invited lectures given by professors Philip McCann from University of Groningen (Regional Development in Europe: Interactions between Economic Geography, Institutions and Policy) and Andrés Rodríguez-Pose from London School of Economics (Quality of government and innovative performance in the regions of Europe).

The joint INFER-IES Workshop on "Banking in Europe: The Current Challenges" took place on the 26th of September 2014, at the Institute of Economic Studies, Faculty of Social Sciences, Charles University, Prague, Czech Republic. The workshop attracted an international audience and included presentations from researchers at universities such as Tilburg University and Ghent University and from central banks or international organizations such as De Nederlandsche Bank, Bank of Finland, European Investment Bank and the European Insurance and Occupational Pensions Authority. A special issue on the workshop is under preparation for Open Economies Review under the guest editorship of Roman Horvath and Laurent Weill.

The INFER Workshop on “Monetary Policy, Asset Prices and the Real Economy in Central and Eastern Europe” was held in Timisoara (Romania) on the 12-13th of December 2014 and was co-organized by INFER, RCEM (Research Centre for Engineering and Management) and ECREB (East-European Center for Research in Economics and Business). The value of the workshop was enhanced by the presence of the distinguished keynote speakers Ansgar Belke, Jarko Fidrmuc and László Halpern, with notable contributions in the field of the monetary policy and the real economy of CEE countries. Professor Francesco Forte contributed in his turn to the success of the workshop, which met all the expectations of the participants. Beside its high scientific standard, the workshop was appreciated for the social program as well as for developments in the research network, which will constitute the basis for future meetings of the INFER members.
